The speaker initiated the presentation by speaking about the importance of commodity derivatives. Ms. Jha explained that, if we look through a larger lens, commodity market is the foundation for equity market. She rightfully added how the companies listed in equity market need commodities as raw material for the production. She explained the need of exchange – there is insurance for everything but varying prices of commodities and that is why participation in exchange is important if a person wants to be insured against uncertain pricing of the same.

Moving ahead, the evolution and structure of commodity derivatives were discussed. The steps by which an investor can start trading were explained. The speaker emphasized the importance of hedging by adding how not hedging is also speculation.

Arbitrage and its type—cash to cash and cash to future—were discussed. Difference in commodity and equity market, commodity derivatives eco-system, stakeholders and their stakes were mentioned. The session was introduced to terms such as staggered delivery, FSP, offset and commodity index.

Delivery logic, price discovery and price risk management were some of the many crucial points in the session.

The types of commodity derivatives- options contract and futures contract- were reviewed. Ms. Jha talked about a very crucial topic—warehousing. The conditions for the verification of the warehouse and the warehouse provider and the process of depositing goods in the warehouse were explained.

The later part of the session consisted the investor's guidelines—the do's and don'ts for the participants. The awareness against dabba trading was stressed upon. The participants were encouraged to ensure that the brokers are trustworthy and contracts are thoroughly studied before involving into any agreement or obligation.

Ms. Kavita Jha tried to have an interactive session despite the restrictions of online mode by interacting and discussing examples and cases with the anchor. She constantly checked if the participants understood the points and tried to give examples so that the content is relatable.

By the end, Ms. Jha asked multiple choice questions to the participants about the content discussed in the session. In case of wrong options being chosen, the speaker explained why the answer was inaccurate and informed the correct answer. The Q&A was open after that. She answered queries of the participants.
